Letter of Reference

This is to certify that I have known Sally Plattner as her Practicum professor at Westcliff University, where she is successfully pursuing a MA in TESOL degree. During her studies, Sally demonstrated that she was an excellent and committed teacher with a wide knowledge in ELT at all levels: she is able to use and explain different methodologies, adapting them to her students' needs.

Sally's teacher identity is well defined and it shows she is an excellent English language teacher, analyst and user. That brings amazing expertise to her sessions, making her classes enjoyable, effective and efficient.

By being a team player, she acknowledges the importance of teamwork and I am sure she will be willing to cooperate as much as possible to create an enriching learning and teaching atmosphere. She is also proactive and cooperative, always open to appraisals, which makes her a great professional. Having Sally as part of any teaching staff will be a great asset because she is a well prepared and committed teacher with vast expertise at all levels and settings. Her dedication to her work is outstanding as she is always willing to go the extra mile to meet her students' needs as much as possible.

I strongly believe that her determination, communication skills, intellectual abilities and passion for studying, teaching and working are qualities that should help her well in any professional and personal goal she sets in the future. She is undoubtedly the type of teacher that has the potential for great success at all levels. Her indefatigable efforts, combined with her work ethic and ability to self-improve, are formulas for success in the years to come.

For the aforementioned, I firmly believe that Sally will be an excellent addition to any institution because she is proof of dedication, hard work, consistency, responsibility, determination and willingness to help others; that is why I give her my highest recommendation, since I am certain she will keep on working hard to achieve great goals in life, professionally, personally, and for the development of the teaching profession.

I unreservedly recommend her for any academic program she might apply and wish her the very best in her further endeavours.

Sincerely,

Evelin Suij-Ojeda
